TOUR

ART + Bath

The banks of the Kennebec River have been home to clay workers for centuries. We have selected just a few of the many pottery studios in the greater Bath region; each one is has its own flavor.

DeTerre

47 Commercial St. Bath. A true find in downtown Bath, potter Heather Bertrand recently moved DeTerre to a new location next to Bath's Waterfront Park. DeTerre features a cooperative of artists including pottery, woven textiles, blown glass, beeswax candles, greeting cards, four jewelers - one with raku jewelry, and artwork by young ArtVan artists. As DeTerre grows into its new location, look for additional retail and studio space. Open Tues-Fri 10-5 and Sat 10-3, and for Bath Artwalk. Contact: 442-0852

Judson Pottery

52 Front St., Bath. Carolyn Judson works in many mediums; mainly clay and porcelain, oils and inks. Her paintings are like vivid dreams of nature, and her sculptures are like physics experiments and re-creations of ancient creatures. Open Mon-Sat 10-5 and for Bath Artwalk. Contact: www.judsonpottery.com or 443-6941.

Noelle Horsfield

40 Dummer St. Bath. Noelle's work is defined by her whimsical, functional kitchen and housewares in beautiful red earthenware. She is currently working on a collection of pots revolving around "All Things Dog." Call for a visit or stop in during the Bath Artwalk. Contact: www.noellesprettypots.com or 442-7238.

Full Circle Clay

41 Tides End Dr., West Bath. Located off Foster's Point Road along the New Meadows River, Nan Kilbourn-Tara and Harold Roberts specialize in decorative earthenware and soda fired stoneware. Visit their studio for a look at the showroom and kilns. Open weekdays 8-5. Contact: 443-5585.
